Child of All Nations (Buru Quartet) Pramoedya Ananta Toer

In Child of All Nations, the reader is immediately swept up by a story that is profoundly feminist, devastatingly anticolonialist—and full of heartbreak, suspense, love, and fury. Pramoedya immerses the reader in a world that is astonishing in its vividness: the cultural whirlpool that was the Dutch East Indies of the 1890s. A story of awakening, it follows Minke, the main character of This Earth of Mankind, as he struggles to overcome the injustice all around him. Pramoedya's full literary genius is evident in the brilliant characters that populate this world: Minke's fragile Mixed-Race wife; a young Chinese revolutionary; an embattled Javanese peasant and his impoverished family; the French painter Jean Marais, to name just a few.

Barry Trusty:

As a university student exactly feel bored to be able to reading. If their teacher requested them to go to the library as well as to make summary for some reserve, they are complained. Just very little students that has reading's heart or real their pastime. They just do what the instructor want, like asked to go to the library. They go to at this time there but nothing reading very seriously. Any students feel that studying is not important, boring and can't see colorful pictures on there. Yeah, it is to be complicated. Book is very important for yourself. As we know that on this period of time, many ways to get whatever we would like. Likewise word says, many ways to reach Chinese's country. Therefore this Child of All Nations (Buru Quartet) can make you really feel more interested to read.
