Mugabe and the White African Ben Freeth

“There was a pent-up storm of anger in Mugabe’s face, like a menacing black cloud hovering above me. I could feel hatred tearing him apart from the inside. His hand came down mechanically and I took it. I will carry the feeling of that touch to my grave. I had a premonition of overwhelming evil.” Since President Mugabe began his violent land seizure programme in 2000, thousands of white farmers and their families have been forced to abandon all they own and flee Zimbabwe. But Ben Freeth, and His father-in-law, farmer Mike Campbell, who had owned and worked the land of their home for over 30 years, were determined to take a stand. They fought a desperate battle against Mugabe through the international courts; it was a fight that almost cost them everything.
